THE SCORE A STUDENT EARNES ON A TEST OR SERIES OF TESTS SHOULD NOT BE CONSIDERED AN EXACT MEASUREMENT BECAUSE A NUMBER OF THINGS MAY INFLUENCE THE SCORE. FOR THAT REASON, SCORES ON TESTS ARE MERELY INDICATORS OF LEARNING OR POTENTIAL TO LEARN.

HOW TO INTERPRET YOUR SCORES —

STANINES: THE STANINE SCORE IS A VALUE IN A SIMPLE NINE POINT SCALE. STANINES RANGE FROM 1 (LOW) TO 9 (HIGH) STANINE SCORES OF 4, 5, AND 6 ARE AVERAGE.

PERCENTILE: SHOWS WHERE A STUDENT'S SCORE RANKS IN COMPARISON WITH OTHERS ON THE SAME TEST. FOR EXAMPLE: SINCE 50% IS AVERAGE, IF YOUR SCORE WAS IN THIS AREA YOU PERFORMED AS AN AVERAGE STUDENT COMPARED TO THOUSANDS OF OTHER STUDENTS EXAMINED. IF YOUR SCORE WAS 75%, IT MEANS THAT 75% PERFORMED LOWER THAN YOU AND 25% PERFORMED HIGHER.

Announcement of the Gospel

R. Glory to You, O Lord!

The Holy Gospel.	John 15:1-8
--------------------------	-------------

R. Praise to You, O Christ!

The Creed, as written by the Confirmands

I Believe in God the Father - the Creator of heaven and earth, of humans and all things; who reigns over all His creation eternally; who loves us all no matter what; who hears our prayers and guides us through life; One we can tell our problems to and who gave His Son to die for us.

I Believe in Jesus Christ - Who came to earth to share our lives, who died on the cross to forgive our sins and win our salvation; who cares for us, believes in us; who taught us about God and also provides us an example, lifestyle, and insight into what it means to live.

I Believe in God the Holy Spirit - God’s presence in our lives, who is always with us, saves us from the Devil, watches and protects us, helps us with our problems and questions, guides, inspires, and uplifts us.

I Believe in God’s Church - the people of God, a place of prayer and salvation where we can grow in faith, hear and study God’s Word, receive His Sacraments; a caring fellowship with other Christians in joy and service, helping us to be the Church in the world. Amen.

THE CONFIRMATION PRAYER OF BLESSING

"The Father in Heaven, for Jesus' sake, renew and increase in you the gift of the Holy Spirit to your strengthening in faith, to your growth in grace, to your patience in suffering, and to the blessed hope of everlasting life. Amen."

THE SCRIPTURE TEXT FOR THE 1985 CONFIRMATION CLASS

"Keep before you an outline of the sound teaching which you have heard from me, living by the faith and love which are ours in Christ Jesus."
II Timothy 1:13, New English Bible

To all parents, relatives, and sponsors who have shared in raising these youth "in the nurture and admonition of the Lord" and today see one fulfillment of their baptismal promise, God give you joy and blessing. May it be a beginning of continual growth, relating God's Word to new experiences and maturing lives.

We appreciate all who have been involved in the teaching of the Confirmands in their homes, in the Church School, and especially during these past two years. Mr. Ronald W. Buesking and Mr. Ronald J. VanLue, along with the pastors, have been their teachers. We appreciate their contribution to the growth in faith of our youth.

*"Be not anxious about what you have,
but about what you are."
— St. Gregory the Great*

Over the west cloister entrance of Trinity Church is the confirmation symbol, the youth confirming Baptism and receiving the blessing from the Pastor.

WELCOME!

We welcome all who have come to worship with us today. May you find blessing, joy, and insight as we share together in the Lord's Name.

Visitors are invited to sign a pew card or the Guest Book in the narthex or education wing.

NEXT SUNDAY — THE MAY MUSIC FESTIVAL

The annual May Music Festival will be next Sunday at the 9:00 and 11:00 a.m. services. Trinity's choirs, brass, strings, handbells, flutes, and percussion will perform Easter and Spring music. This is a special time to bring your friends to share in worship in your music and flower-filled church.

Worshippers are encouraged to read John 15:9-17 and Psalm 100 in preparation for Pastor Cress' meditation, "Love, or Leave!"

PASTORAL ACTS

Robert J. Cupples, G. Richard MacDonald, and Helen E. (Mrs. Robert) Wefel entered the church triumphant this past week, and the sympathy and prayers of the congregation are extended to their families.

WANTED!

...The names and degrees of all members of Trinity Church who are graduating from colleges, universities, or graduate schools this year. We know who some of you are, but we also know there are some of you we do not know. Parents, you can be helpful by calling the church office and giving us the name of your daughter or son who is graduating.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

Please be sure to reserve Sunday, May 19, 10:05 to 10:50 a.m. for our annual congregational meeting. Come to hear reports of what your church has done during the past year, as well as to vote for new council members and foundation members.

ANNIVERSARY CONGRATULATIONS!

Congratulations of the congregation are extended to Herman and Agnes Kroemer who celebrate their 70th wedding anniversary on May 10.

PRE-SCHOOL HEARING, VISION TESTS

Hearing and vision testing for Pre-schoolers will be held from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 22. Call the church office for information.

SOFTBALL SEASON

Softball season begins May 12 and practice will be Thursday, May 9, at 6:30 p.m., City Utilities Park. Interested? Call Mike Etter, 447-1154.

"Oh, dear Lord, three things I pray...

To see Thee more clearly, love Thee more dearly, Follow Thee more nearly, day by day."

Voters say "No-Way" to $5 Million Tax Hike

by John McGauley

On Tuesday, December 3, voters in the Fort Wayne Community School district voted down a proposed hike in property taxes which reportedly would have raised more than $5 million to fund a gradual improvement of both educational opportunities and the racial balance in the school system.

Revenue from the referendum was to have funded the fourteen point "Direction for Tomorrow" plan, which was designed to reduce class sizes in grades K-3, provide new educational resources and opportunities, and raise FWCS teacher salaries to a more competitive level.

In an interview with John Douglas of WQHK radio, FWCS Superintendent Bill Anthis stated that, "the voters have spoken" and that "we (FWCS) will act accordingly".

Apparently surprised by the large margin of defeat, Dr. Anthis said that he felt many people did not fully understand the issues involved in the referendum, one of which was the controversial Galaxy Magnet School Program. Anthis concluded by stating the Fort Wayne School system was not in bad financial condition and that they would "take the public mandate and operate as we have in the past".

By far the most controversial of the fourteen points was the Galaxy Magnet School Program, which was created in response to a February 1984 report from the U.S. Office of Civil Rights which stated that 22 of the city's 36 elementary schools were "severely racially imbalanced". The program was to have converted six elementary schools into magnet schools, offering new opportunities for before and after school programs. Any white students wishing to attend these schools would have been bused voluntarily.

Of all those topics covered in the failed referendum, only one is an absolute must for the school system. To continue to receive federal funds, the school system must satisfy the Office of Civil Rights with an improved racial balance. The system has two choices with the failure of the referendum. These are a court battle with the OCR, which could still result in a loss of federal funds if lost, and a small-scale busing plan which would affect only those racially unbalanced schools.

Voting takes place at Snider for the Referendum. A strong student turn-out contrasted a small 24% overall showing.

The Music Boosters of Snider High School will be selling fresh cut Christmas trees at the northwest corner of the football field from November 30 through December 8. Profits from this sale will be used to support the entire Fine Arts program at Snider High School. For instance during the basketball season you will see the Pantherettes in new uniforms that have been financed by the Music Boosters.

Your support of this project would be appreciated. Just follow the signs to Santa Paws' Christmas Tree Lot and check it out.

Scholars Commended

Snider High School has been notified by National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC) that Elizabeth J. Anderson, Bethany D. Deka, Steven D. Greenberg, Charles A. Hill, John A. Krueger, Jana G. McClain, Carey B. Parker, Timothy K. Scott, Karen M. Vance, and Girish V. Vitalpur have been designated Commended Students in the 1986 Merit Program. The principal, Jerry O. Petrie, announced today that these seniors will receive a Letter of Commendation in honor of outstanding academic promise, demonstrated by placing in the top five percent of over one million participants in the 31st annual National Merit Scholarship Program.

An officer of NMSC, which administers the program, stated that, "Being named a Commended Student in the extremely competitive Merit Program is a credit to these young men and women and to their schools, which play an important role in the development of academically talented youth. The high test performance of Commended Students is indicative of exceptional scholastic ability, which is essential in a nation that prides itself on cultivating individual excellence. We hope the honor these students have earned will provide motivation for them to use their talents to the fullest and also will serve as an example for other aspiring young citizens."

Participants entered the current Merit Program by taking the PSAT/NMSQT in October 1984, when most of them were juniors. Although their qualifying test scores are very high, the 35,000 Commended Students nationwide scored slightly below the level required for Semifinalist standing.

Thong Begins Student Council Beat

by Samuel Thong

This story is the first in an on-going series of reports on Student Council activities. These reports will appear in the SCROLL every other week as Student Council meetings are held every other Thursday after school in the tiered lecture room. A Student Council report will also be aired on PANTHER'S PAUSE a week after each meeting.

The State Developmental and Training Center Christmas party is the next Student Council activity. The party will be held on Saturday, December 14, from 1:38 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. The Christmas party committee have finished final preparations and have expressed thanks to all the first period classes for their contributions which went to purchase gifts for residents of the center. The committee invites all students to participate. Students should meet at 1:15 p.m. at Carrol Hall at the State Developmental Center.

The canned food drive will begin on December 9, and last until December 13. Canned foods will be collected during first period during that week. Again this year, the first period class collecting the most cans will receive a donut party. Prizes will also be awarded to the top three individual collectors.

The Semi-formal will be held on January 18 this year. The Semi-formal committee has begun preparations for the dance and will hold a meeting soon. The date for the meeting will be printed in the morning announcements.

The MORP committee will decide the colors and theme for this year's MORP, which will be held on February 14, on Thursday, December 12 after school in the study hall. The co-chairpersons for the MORP Lynne Crunkleton and Kristyn Cox invite all interested students to attend the committee meeting.

Reminders will soon be sent out to all elected representatives of the Student Council who have had two unexcused absences. If an elected representative fails to attend three meetings without an excuse acceptable to the executive committee, the representative will be removed from the Student Council. All written excuses should be given to Samuel Thong, Student Council Secretary. The next Student Council meeting will be held on December 12.

It won't be long. Mandatory busing for the elementary school kids in Fort Wayne may come since the referendum has been rejected. The only difference is that now, the federal government will do it their way.

There are several reasons the referendum was defeated but the most prominent is that people tried to vote their pocketbooks. The blame shouldn't rest totally with the voters, though. Local authorities speculate that FWCS put "too many eggs in one basket." Voters were unsure about approving so many (14) measures at once. Even though most people agreed with some measures, disagreement with a couple measures might have led them to reject the proposals.

It's too bad that the referendum was rejected by a voter turnout of only 24%, two-thirds of whom voted against the measures. That's only 16% of the voters. The statement made by Fort Wayne voters wasn't that they disapproved, it was that they didn't care.

The following letter expresses the opinion of the student who submitted it to the Scroll and does not necessarily reflect the views of any person or persons on the Scroll staff.

To the Editor,

Perhaps 'farce' is too strong a word, but, I for one do not think so. There are too many things that are considered procedure that are ignored or changed in student council which would tend to support, not detract, from my position. Such matters would not be a terrible sacrilege, but, almost every organization adheres to certain tenets in its charter phase to insure order. A quasi-governmental unit such as student council should do at least as much.

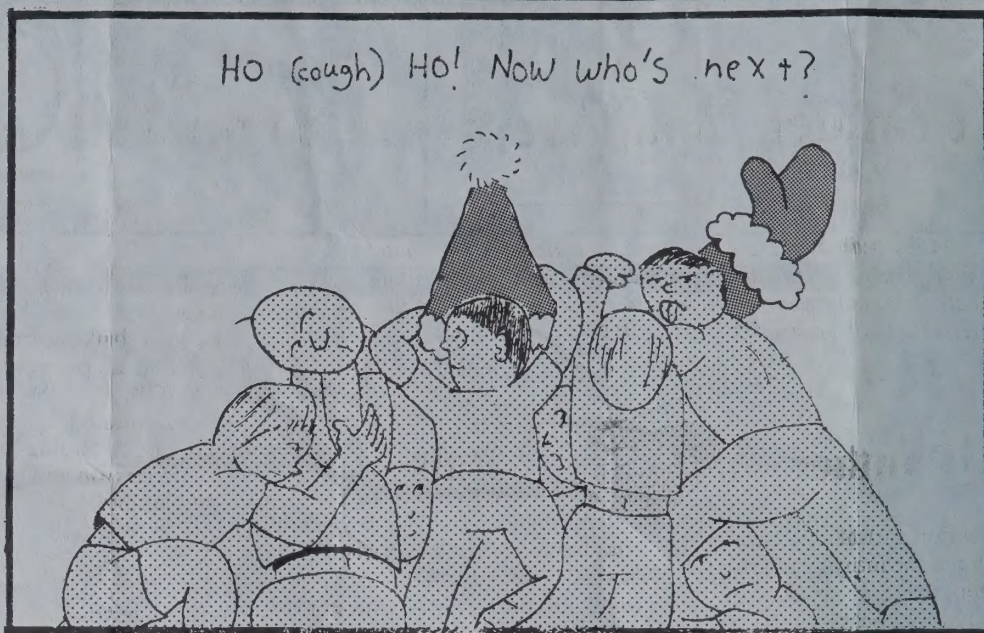

In several places I have alluded to "procedure", or rules of order of which the most common and most effective is Robert's Rules of Order. Until the meeting of November 14, 1985 student council's charter stated that "In all disputes as to parliamentary procedure, Robert's rules of order shall be the final authority." Interesting by its own admission student council has not had a quorum, or minimum number of members to conduct business, for several years. This would normally preclude the process of doing business. Student council, instead of calling a meeting of mandatory attendance for the purpose of reform, did something surprisingly lucid. They decided, with anything but a quorum, to change quorum to those members that show up.

Attendance is another valid topic for discussion, considering that a large number of council members have not even shown up for one meeting this year. As if this were not bad enough, council has a rule on record that prohibits any member from having more than three unexcused absences. Again council showed no small amount of brilliance in that they adopt a rule stating that no member could miss more than three meetings without an excuse, effective from the aforementioned date. Said valid excuses are those recognized by Fort Wayne Community Schools. In addition sports and outside school employment are exempted.

Finally, my last criticism of student council is that of said excused absences. While I do not object in any way to F.W.C.S. excused absences being recognized, I do object to employment and sports being recognized. While sports and employment are worthwhile activities, they should be budgeted along with student council. If you get a job, resign from council and let someone with the time have a chance; likewise, if you plan to play a sport, do not run.

Student council can be a very useful organ of school politics if only run responsibly. There are many concerns that students have which just get lost in the bureaucracy as isolated instances because they lack support that exists in a different place. Student council should help find support if it is there, and, generate it if the effects are far reaching enough.

December Cable Looks Good

by Girish Vitalpur

December should prove to be a banner month for those who enjoy fine films because of the many features on cable television. Many critically acclaimed comedies, dramas and specials will be shown on all three movie networks (Home Box Office, Showtime and Cinemax).

Two farm stories highlight this month's offerings. Mel Gibson and Sissy Spacek fight the deadly forces of nature to save their farm in "The River." "Places in the Heart," a tale about a widow's struggles to keep her family and farm together, garnered several Academy Awards, including one for Best Actress for Sally Field. Howard E. Rollins, Jr. stars as a military attorney sent from Washington to a military base in Louisiana to investigate a murder in the Oscar-winning drama, "A Soldier's Story." Vanessa Redgrave was nominated for an Academy Award for her portrayal of an ardent feminist in "The Bostonians."

One of the excellent comedies on cable this month is "Irreconcilable Differences," the story of the attempt of a girl (Drew Barrymore) to divorce her parents (Shelley Long and Ryan O'Neal). In addition, "Johnny Dangerously" details the exploits of a young man (Michael Keaton) in the mob. Goldie Hawn portrays a cocktail waitress who becomes a media heroine overnight when she saves the life of a visiting dignitary in "Protocol." Also showing is the delightful "Gar-attempt to satisfy his mother's dying wish — meeting Greta Garbo.

Several specials are also on tap for this month such as an REO Speedwagon concert on Showtime and a program on the influence of the Doors on Cinemax. Furthermore, the "Ninth Annual Young Comedians Special," hosted by Rodney Dangerfield, showcases a variety of new talent. Moreover, HBO's hilarious "Not Necessarily the Year in Review" reports the major events of 1985 in its own special way.

With all of these excellent presentations, it is hard to believe that anybody would be bored during the month of December!

"Rocky" Theme Wearing Thin

by Jason Anderson

Bolt the doors, bring in the dog, hide the women, Rock is back! Yes, the one time fantastically original movie hit has returned for yet another shot at the big money and seems to be succeeding.

If you'll recall, Rocky One was about how Rocky got the shaft in his first bout with Apollo Creed. Rocky Two was the rematch where Rocky won the title from Creed. Both these movies were very interesting and had definable plots. This time, though, the writer Stallone got a little sidetracked. Rocky Three added a new twist, a huge fighter named Clubber Lang who tried, and succeeded once, to take away Rocky's crown, only to have him take it back in a later match. Now, in this latest Rocky the writers have gone completely off the subject and made up an almost unbelievable character, a super-human Russian named Drago.

Not to say this makes a movie bad, it is just completely a different style from the first movies. What the movie lacks in believability, it more than made up for in character. More than once it had the audience openly applauding and cheering. Rocky four had all the class and style of the previous three, yet the story, I must admit, is getting a little old.

Without a doubt the worst part of the whole movie is at the end, after Rocky wins over the Russian crowd, he gives his speech on how, if he can change their minds and influence them, then their leaders should also be able to. Even the most hardy Rocky fan had to be wondering if this was the same person they saw in Rocky One and Two.

And finally, for those of you who haven't had enough of Rocky and his buddies, they are already hard at work on, yes you guessed it, ROCKY FIVE.

LUANN At School

BY GREG EVANS

At Snider You Are More Than Just A Student

Many students here at Snider have other interests than simply being a student. These important extra-curricular activities, connected both with school and personal interests, take up a large part of their spare time.

Panther

Pals

A major part of life here at Snider are the many friendships students make.

Generally, people with the same interests and hobbies will be the closest friends. When you're a Freshman, you meet many new people with whom you will form lasting friendships over the next four years. By the time you're a Senior, friends have been made by common interests shared through the years. This is inevitable since we spend so much time at jobs and in our various other activities.

Louis King said, "I've made quite a few friends here at Snider as a part of being involved in athletics. As a result of teamship, we developed good friendships."

Another Senior, Michelle Gratz added, "I've made a great deal of good friendships up at work with people I would not have known otherwise." Michelle smiled, "That's probably because that's where I spend all of my time!"

Many times, this is how a dating relationship develops, also. But often, if you meet this person at your job there is the extra complication of not being allowed to date them. Dawn Witt said, "I was really disappointed when after dating someone from work, my boss told me that we aren't allowed to date crew-members." Sometimes choices of priorities have to be made and those are never easy.

Friends are something very special, and something you will always find at Snider High School. Jeff Kacines sums it up, "One of the main reasons I am still working at McDonald's is the friendships I have made along the way."

All of your friends are doing it, your mother wants you to do it, and your bank account insists upon it. It's time to (sigh) GET A JOB!

Now, the question is, how do you go about finding a job which interests you and is equal to your ability level? Many students here at Snider are in the DECA program. Brenda Aldridge, a DECA student who works at Glenbrook in the Apple Tree, said, "Mrs. Davis, who runs DECA, gave me the name and number of my boss. I called her up and we set up an interview . . . then I got the job."

There are other ways to find a job other than through DECA, though. When hunting on your own, remember that one of the best qualifications a future employee needs is persistence. You probably won't get hired the first time you apply for a job, but keep calling back to see if they have filled the position you want. Also, don't have "one and only one" job in mind; there are a lot of places to apply just at Glenbrook alone.

Now that you have your job, you need to determine the number of hours a week you want to work. The average number of hours a week most Snider students work ranges anywhere from 10 to 25. This means a student will go to school six hours and then go six more hours to work. Because the Christmas season is upon us, that average will increase, especially for those people working at the Mall. Kelly Nonte, who works out at the Mall, said she'll be getting at least ten more hours a week due to the Christmas rush.

Spending money for Christmas is the perfect reason to start working, so go out there and find a job!

Students invest much time and effort into a minimum paying job, and although working may seem futile to many people it can lead to many important things in life. It gives a teen a feeling of importance and responsibility. These invaluable assets could be character-builders for later in life.

One student, Sue Lewis, who tries to juggle three jobs says, "sometimes I get so busy, I feel I have little time for myself." Although Suzy is either at school or at work, she still manages to get excellent grades and have an active social life, which includes being a cheerleader here at Snider.

On the other hand, some students plan their work schedules so that they only work when it will not interfere with their schoolwork, such as Vicki Self. Vicki only works one night during the school week and on weekends. She says, "It is a good way to have extra money and still have a lot of free time."

Some students work to support themselves, and some work simply because they enjoy it, and it keeps them busy. But no matter what the reason, it gives a person a sense of self-satisfaction and a better feeling about themselves.

Panthers Play and Learn After School

Who plans your plans? When you go to a dance, all of the people don't "just show up"! Much effort and planning has gone on behind the scenes to make everything run like clockwork by the Student Council. In fact, without the Student Council, many major events here at Snider would not take place. All of the activities surrounding Homecoming week, down to the very last detail, have been taken into account by the Student Council. Also, when Prom time comes around, Junior class officers will be responsible for all of the Prom.

Now, with the Holiday season well under way, your Student Council is as busy as ever. The up-coming schedule of events includes: the State School Christmas party and the Canned Food Drive. The Student Council is the communication link between the students, teachers, and the community, therefore all participation is a reflection on you, the school. Student Council president, Janet Wright, concludes, "All help will be greatly appreciated."

An academic club here at Snider is the Math club. They meet every first Wednesday of the month to work on unusual problems which you usually don't find in the classroom. The problems range in degree of difficulty, but most of them have practical applications in a variety of uses. The math club doesn't "just study math." They get together and explore many challenges while making friends and having fun. This club is not to be confused with the math league, where students compete to the best of their abilities in state wide competitions. Throughout the year there are six contests in the math league, which are graded on a six point scale. Mr. Scholtz, the math club sponsor, sees the club's future as expanding. Consequently, opening new avenues of interest and opportunities to the student.

The Foreign Language clubs are very active here at Snider, and the German club is no exception. This year the German club boasts a record 70 members with a German exchange student, Markus Hoffmann as the club president. Frau, the club sponsor, said, "The kids really like having that club the way. "Coming up in December, the German club will have a tree decorating party — with an edible tree! In a hungarian-German tradition club members will make candy to decorate the tree. Also, the German Club is attending the annual Skating party hosted by the Foreign Language Department on the 23rd of January. Future plans include the yearly favorite trip to Zolis and possibly a dance, keeping the club quite active.

Just the gang getting together is what Mr. Buzzard does with the Chess Club. Every Tuesday the boys get together to practice and refine their chess skills. This year they are fortunate enough to have an encouraging German exchange student to come in and show the team "all the right moves." Lately the chess team is polishing up for the annual sectionals held early in March, at Wayne High School. If they fare well there the state tourney is held in Indianapolis, sometime in April. With tongue and cheek, the head of the Chess Club smiled and said, "we are now accepting applications for the chess club cheerleader."

This is the 7th year of the club and possibly, Mr. Buzzard is ready for a real challenge. Rumor has it he may challenge Gregg Johans!

As you have felt recently, the VIP club sponsored a blood drive in the auxilliary gym. Chairperson Jodi McFarland put much effort into organizing this successful event. The original goal for the blood drive was 100 pints (with one donor per pint). But, with over-whelming response this was changed to 150 pints. The final result was 189 pints. Mrs. Johnson said, "I'd just like to thank all of the students for the record turn-out. This fall blood drive was not only a record-breaker here at Snider, but also in the area. This success could never have happened without the participation of these helpers and donors."

Seniors To Lead Panthers

by Nate Northington, Jr.

Since the Snider Panther football team's season has come to an end, thoughts are quickly changing from the oval shaped football to the sphere shaped basketball. A season hopefully bringing the Panthers back to the top of the SAC. Leading the Panthers into another season will be 7th year coach Gary Crawford. Coach Crawford, an experienced coach, spent eleven years as a South Side assistant before joining the Snider program. Crawford was also a talented basketball player for Elmhurst High School and Defiance College in Ohio.

As one takes a look at this year's Snider basketball team, one notices no glaring weaknesses in the Panthers. Snider will be returning excellent experience from last year's team which closed out a successful season as Sectional runner-up.

Returning players from that team who are expected to get a lot of playing time are Craig Glover, John Hicks, Todd Martin, John Quilhot, Cornelius Billingsley, and Sam Barnes. Also expected to contribute a lot to this year's team is junior Herbie Jackson. Early on the Panthers will be playing with basically four players, since the tremendous success of the Snider football team has made Jackson, Quilhot, and Billingsley miss the entire pre-season. The trio will also be given some time off to rest and prepare themselves mentally and physically for the season. This action will put more pressure on the other four returning starters, who will have to play harder and do more things they are not accustomed to. An example of this will be Todd Martin, a fine shooter, being called upon to handle the ball more. Martin should do a fine job, but his having to bring the ball up may take away from his shooting.

After the Panthers return to full strength they will join the elite of the SAC, which basically includes the entire conference. As this year there is no dominate team in the conference.

As stated by Coach Crawford, "No one is in a class by themselves this year. There are three to seven teams who have an opportunity to win the SAC."

The three teams with the best chances are Wayne, Concordia, and last year's champion, Northrop. The Panthers and some other teams will challenge. This year the Panthers have a team capable of beating anyone on a given night. Snider is a team which hopes to surpass their accomplishments of last year.

Go team Go!

Students gather for the last football Pep session of the year.

Snider Kicks Luers

Soccer is becoming more popular nationwide every year. Here at Snider the interest continues to grow. Each more talented players try out for the team, and this year is no exception. For the team is currently showing a great deal of potential with its defense anchored by Ben Yoder and Craig Wise, the team should prove to be explosive.

On the 23rd of November, Snider encountered Bishop Luers. The teams were equally matched, each having opportunities in the first half to score. However, Brian Hoskins, the Snider goalie, dove for several balls, and prevented Bishop Luers from making a point. Snider played exceptionally in the third quarter. Jason Bryant rebounded the ball off the wall achieving the first goal of the game. With only five seconds remaining in the quarter, Craig Wise plunged up the middle, received a pass from Jason Anderson, and scored making the score 2-0. Bishop Luers tried to make a comeback in the fourth quarter but failed due to Snider's defensive fullbacks.

In the final segment of the game Mike Coleman took advantage of the Bishop Luer goalie position and looped a 35-yard shot over his head. The final score was 3-0.

Coach Greg Roberts stands at the root of Snider's success. He has been Snider's soccer coach since the beginning of the sport, well deserving of the SCSC "Coach of the Year." — Ted Smith elaborated on this, "we as players would like to make it so there is NO doubt this year." Ted has played offense for the last few seasons but well try to replace Dave Weiss, who is starting now on the Purdue soccer team, as center half back.

The Indoor Soccer League will conclude in Feb. when the winter cup will begin.

Kilmer Has Young Talent

Snider's girls basketball is looking forward to another great season. Even though graduation took some of Snider's key players this year coach Lamar Kilmer has a lot of fresh young talent to work with. With only one senior, Susie Bacon, on the team underclassmen are going to be getting a lot of playing time.

In addition to Bacon, the 1985/86 varsity team members are: Juniors, Deena Dekoker, Ann Fazekas, Cheryl Johnson, and Jill Richards; and Sophomores, Kelli Allison, Bonnie Gill, Donna Gill, Jenny Herman, and Lori Stinson. Managers are Julie Springer, Angie Bartels, Tera Curry, and Phyllis Williams.

The season began with a disappointing loss to Huntington North 71-55 but the Panthers came back with a victory over Belmont 55-38 and a narrow win over Wayne 48-45. Unfortunately, they didn't do as well against fourteenth ranked Northrop, 63-49, Tuesday night and came away with another loss.

The experience level of the team is not very high and considering the competition that Snider is facing with three teams in the top fifteen on their schedule they are not expected to be very consistent. However, the coach is optimistic, "With a young team we are showing gradual improvement," said Kilmer who is in his sixth season of coaching girls' basketball at Snider. "I figure it will take about six games for the team to start to gel," added Kilmer.

The high scorers this year have been Susie Bacon, Deena Dekoker, and Donna Gill. This proves that this is a well-rounded scoring team. Other statistics show that this team has great potential and is sure to be a power this year.

This year the reserve team is made up of: Juniors, Donna Banks, and Nichelle Lamb; and Sophomores, Jane Deike, Bonnie Gill, Nancy Heck, Michelle Kendell, Erin MacDowell, Kelly Sites, and Rebecca Turner. Their record is 1-3.

The girls play again on the tenth against Harding and against Concordia on the seventeenth. Freshmen have a game against Heritage on the eleventh and Woodlan on the eighteenth.

The freshmen team is made up of: Cindy Bice, Karen Fazekas, Lori Stano, Tonja Cook, Lynnetta Fish, Jenny Zimmerman, Missy Conrad, and Mary Mack.

Gymnastics With A Twist

by Margo Cronk

A new twist will be noticeable for girls' gymnastics this season. Replacing the optional and compulsory levels will be varsity optional and reserve optional. Before, only at varsity level could the girls make up their own routines. Now, both levels will be optional, thus making their own routines. The change in this program should make the meets more interesting for the spectators.

In addition to the new format, Snider's gymnastics team appears to be blessed with talent. Returning letterwinners include senior Rae Jump and juniors Cindy Clauss, Linnea Fulkerson and Shelley Springer. According to Coach Gray, all four of these girls are looking terrific and have improved tremendously from last year. Another plus for Snider will be freshman Tricia Patterson who will begin competing once basketball season is over. The team has high expectations for her.

Another good asset for Snider's team should include the new assistant coach, Cami Wharton. Currently she is a teacher at Miami Middle School. Her alma mater is Northrop where she competed in the gymnastics program. She has been a high school judge for three years. Cami should have some great pointers and advice for the girls.

At the beginning of each season the team's goals are made. This season the number one priority is to peak at sectionals and make it to state. This should be possible because Homestead, the reigning state champion, has had all of its gymnasts graduate. The competition this year should be coming from North Side. The team's second goal is to win SAC. The last two out of three years they placed second and want to break that tradition by winning the crown.

Dear Mom & Dad & family,

Hola! Well its only Sunday and I'm already writing you a letter. My first "real" night in the apartment. I have a class tomorrow at 8:30 (Barfo) so I'm looking forward to that.

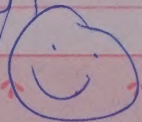

No ones here, Deanna is at work and I have no idea where Tracey & Cindy are. Oh well, its only 7:38, I'm sure they'll be along.

The side home was horrible with that storm and everything. Scared me and Roland to death. But as usual I'm here safe and sound.

Chow!

A Troubled Friend

Alone inside your little world,
a dove in a gilded cage,
Though you smile so bright, your eyes are cold,
I can feel your pain and rage.

Too young to take the world upon your back,
too weak to bear the strain,
you still press on your weary path,
knowing nothing will ever change.

Upon the night you lay and dream of the days yet to come,
though you often wake up nights,
weeping for the things you've left undone.

Allow me to share your heavy load, for it's weight is too hard to bare,
reach out now and take my hand, you're not alone,
for I will always be there.

DEAR PARENT:

As part of the school's achievement testing program, this student took the California Achievement Tests. These test scores are general indications of the student's level of achievement at the time of testing. A teacher's view of a student's strengths and needs is based on observations that are made over a longer period of time and reflect a number of factors. It is important that you review these test scores with the teacher.

INTERPRETATION OF STUDENT'S RESULTS

READING SKILLS

YOUR CHILD IS STRONG IN SKILLS RELATED TO:

- IDENTIFYING MULTIMEANING WORDS
- IDENTIFYING MISSING WORDS BY THEIR CONTEXT
- ANALYZING CHARACTERS IN PASSAGES

FURTHER REVIEW MAY BE NEEDED TO IMPROVE SKILLS RELATED TO:

- UNDERSTANDING THE OPPOSITE MEANING OF WORDS
- INFERRING THE CENTRAL THOUGHT IN PASSAGES

TEST RESULTS PROFILE

THE SCORE A STUDENT EARNS ON A TEST OR SERIES OF TESTS SHOULD NOT BE CONSIDERED AN EXACT MEASUREMENT BECAUSE A NUMBER OF THINGS MAY INFLUENCE THE SCORE. FOR THAT REASON, SCORES ON TESTS ARE MERELY INDICATORS OF LEARNING OR POTENTIAL TO LEARN.

HOW TO INTERPRET YOUR SCORES —

STANINES: THE STANINE SCORE IS A VALUE IN A SIMPLE NINE POINT SCALE. STANINES RANGE FROM 1 (LOW) TO 9 (HIGH) STANINE SCORES OF 4, 5, AND 6 ARE AVERAGE.

PERCENTILE: SHOWS WHERE A STUDENT'S SCORE RANKS IN COMPARISON WITH OTHERS ON THE SAME TEST. FOR EXAMPLE: SINCE 50% IS AVERAGE, IF YOUR SCORE WAS IN THIS AREA YOU PERFORMED AS AN AVERAGE STUDENT COMPARED TO THOUSANDS OF OTHER STUDENTS EXAMINED. IF YOUR SCORE WAS 75%, IT MEANS THAT 75% PERFORMED LOWER THAN YOU AND 25% PERFORMED HIGHER.

Semester Index: An average determined by the sum of index points for all weighted grades divided by the total number of credit hours in all courses in which weighted grades were received.

Graduation Index for Undergraduate Students: A weighted average of all grades received by you while in the curriculum in which you are enrolled, plus all other weighted grades taken in other curricula at the University and accepted for satisfying the requirements of the undergraduate curriculum of the school in which you are enrolled. In the case of a course which has been repeated, with the consent of your academic adviser, or in which a condition (E) grade has been improved by examination, or for which a substantially equivalent course has been substituted, the most recent grade received is used in computing your index.

Graduation Index for Graduate or Professional Students: A weighted average of all grades received since you entered a graduate or professional degree program. Grades received in foreign language courses to establish reading knowledge, as specified by the Graduate Council, are not used.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING RESULTS

The annual meeting of the congregation convened at 10:05 a.m. on Sunday, May 17, in Wagenhals Hall. Ed Beck was elected secretary for the meeting. Pastor Frazier presented a verbal and written report in this the 146th year of the congregation and his 25th year as Senior Pastor. Written reports of the pastors, lay staff, committees, organizations, the Treasurer's reports of the Congregation, Women of the ELCA, and the Trinity Foundation were presented. Copies of the annual report are available to members in the church library, narthex, and education wing. You are encouraged to obtain a copy.

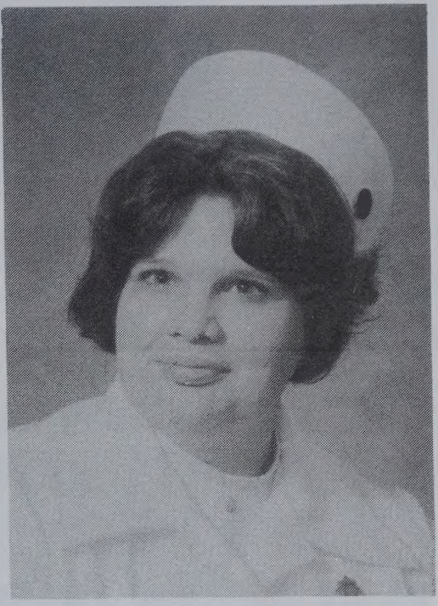

Election results include: CHURCH COUNCIL: Ronald D. Blackburn, Mark F. Hagerman, Patricia H. Jackson, Janet O. McCaulay, Dr. Vance V. VanDrake, Jr., Donna R. Wray, and Youth Representative Karen J. Eller. FOUNDATION TRUSTEES: Dr. Robert F. Kimbrough, Virginia Yergens Rogers, and Paul E. Shaffer.

Kathy Wildermuth Named Parish Nurse

Upon recommendation of the Parish Nurse Task Force and the Personnel Committee, the Church Council has called Kathy Wildermuth to the part-time staff position of Parish Nurse. Kathy has accepted the position and plans to begin her duties with Trinity July 1, 1992.

Kathy is a member of the parish, and presently serves as Assistant Head Nurse - Psychiatric/Mental Health Services of the Lutheran Hospital of Indiana. She has considerable experience in nursing, education, and community resources. At Trinity she is a member of the Chancel and Handbell Choirs, the Youth and Drama Committees.

Members of the congregation have been kept informed about the purpose and potential for this position. Briefly stated, the Parish Nurse will serve as an educator, a health counselor/confidante, and a developer/coordinator of supportive networks, and will visit/correlate our ministry with shut-ins and senior members, while also serving as a resource person for all ages as we emphasize the wholeness of persons.

You may remember that the Strategic Planning Group, comprised of more than 100 members, recommended in 1990 that Trinity consider two additional staff positions. One was for Youth Ministries. John Gevers was called to this position and has effectively energized and led our ministry with youth.

The second recommendation called for a task force to study the feasibility of a Parish Nurse, with consideration given to how such a position might enhance all members, including our many senior citizens.

For the past many months a Parish Nurse Task Force has met to study the literature, receive information

THE PASTORAL LETTER

The following words from one of the songs in the Broadway play, "Fiddler on the Roof", keep playing in my head since I watched my own daughter, Krista, don cap and gown and process with 3,000 other Indiana University graduates:

"Is this the little boy I carried?

Is this the little girl at play?

I don't remember growing older, when did they?

When did she get to be a beauty?

When did he grow to be so tall?

Wasn't it yesterday when they were small?

Sunrise, Sunset, Sunrise, Sunset

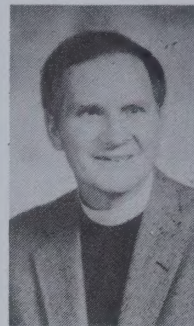

Swiftly fly the years;

One season following another,

Laden with happiness and tears."

That song and that graduation scene attached themselves to another truth that I had filed away several years ago: The day that children realize that adults are imperfect, they become adolescents. The day they forgive adults, they themselves become adults. The day children, now adults, forgive themselves, they become wise.

May the "diplomas" we receive throughout our lives lead us toward such wisdom. Be a blessing.

MORE ON THE PICTORIAL DIRECTORY

At an organizational meeting held May 17 Sonja Redmon, United Church Directories consultant, met with Tom Cook, Chairman, Mel Gronauer, Co-Chairman, Pastor Hamlin, and the Outreach Coordinators to explain the Pictorial Directory process and to set date deadlines.

The goal for this Pictorial Directory is to have every Trinity family pictured. If it is impossible for you to be photographed at Trinity, submitted photographs are accepted. If submitted photographs are color prints, they will appear in the Directory in color.

Announcements at worship services, posters in the church, informational mailings, bulletin inserts, meetings of telephone callers who will be trained in setting appointments for photographing will take place prior to July 16 when telephone calling to set appointments will begin. Telephone calling ends July 26.

If you have an unlisted number, it is requested that you phone the church during this period so that your family photography appointment can be scheduled. Also, if your family has not been contacted during the telephone calling time frame, please call the church.

BETHEL 13 CLASS MEMBERS GRADUATE

The members of the thirteenth Bethel Class recently completed their two years of Biblical study and were awarded the Bethel pin.

Class members are serving in Outreach as follows: Carl Reibs and Marilyn Yoder are Coordinators of Community 10 and 2, respectively.

Others serve on Outreach Staffs: Steve Bell, Community 12; Lois Campbell, Community 5; Jim and Kay Erickson, Community 13; Vicki Hauff, Community 4; Ned Heider, Community 3; Kay McKay, Community 10; Nancy Sweet, Community 2; Jim Yoder, Community 2.

from other congregations who have such a staff position, and establish a specific job description for Trinity Church. Twelve resumes were received. Six of the people were interviewed personally.

Members who have served on the Parish Nurse Task Force include Pam Boerger, Ann Borne, Nancy Gemmer, Mary Menge, Leigh Smith, Darlene Yarnelle, Kathy Wildermuth, and Pastor Nelson as staff liaison. Pastors Nelson and Frazier also participated in the interviews.

The Personnel Committee approved the position subject to adequate funding. We were able to include the half-time position in this year's budget, aided by a special designation from the estate of the late Dr. Walter Jurgensen.

We welcome Kathy to our church staff. The location of her office and specific visitations and educational opportunities will be shared in future Parish Visitors.

TOUR GUIDES NEEDED

Volunteers are needed to conduct visitors on guided tours of our church facilities following Sunday morning services and special events. If you are willing to assist, call the church office (426-3424) sometime this summer.

Guides will be trained at a brief orientation meeting and scheduled to serve as convenient for them.

Around and Beyond the Cloister

CONGRATULATIONS TO:

...William and Helen KERR, who celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

...Alan HOFER, honored as a West Central Neighborhood Ministry Volunteer of the Year.

...Gregory LYNNG, the valedictorian at North Side High School.

...Jack HEDDON and Darren STOODY, named to the Fort Wayne High School All-Conference hockey team.

...Valerie HOLLY, Director of Trinity's Pre-School, who delivered a baby girl on April 27. Kristin Elaine is the second daughter for Val and her husband, Andy. They also have two sons.

...Pastor Kathleen NELSON, elected to the Board of Directors of the Trinity Seminary at the recent synod assembly.

...Frank DEITLE, selected to participate in the Indiana University summer honors foreign exchange language program. He will study French for seven weeks while living with a host family...Jodi CHURCHWARD, selected to a similar program through Miami University (Oxford, Ohio), will study German in Berlin and at the University of Heidelberg...Krista HAMLIN, participating in a Studies Abroad Program through the University of Georgia in Cortona, Italy. She will take graduate courses in Art History, Jewelry, Design, and Drawing.

(Editor's note: We rely on members to inform us of such special events and honors.)

...SERMONS AVAILABLE. Copies of Pastor Frazier's sermons "Ananias and Our Partnership in the Gospel" and "The God Who Cares" are available in the church library, the narthex, and the education wing.

...Heeeeere's $80,000: NBC-TV and its affiliates gave Johnny Carson an $80,000 retirement present. The talk show host gave it away to the Lutheran Community Hospital in his hometown of Norfolk, Nebraska.

...A FIRST IT WAS for a Sunday morning anthem. The congregation broke into applause following the Chancel Choir's a cappella singing of the spiritual, "He Never Failed Me Yet," on Sunday, May 17.

SCHOLASTIC INDEXES

SEMESTER INDEX: An average for the session determined by weighting each grade received by the credit hours for the course, summing the index points and dividing by the total number of credit hours in all courses in which weighted grades were received.

GRADUATION INDEX

Undergraduate students - A weighted average of all grades received while enrolled in the present curriculum plus all other grades received in courses taken at the University and properly accepted under established procedures for satisfying the requirements of the school in which the student is enrolled. If a course has been repeated or if a conditional grade has been improved by examination or if a substantially equivalent course has been substituted, the most recent grade received is used in computing the index.

Graduate or professional students - A weighted average of all grades received since entering a graduate or professional degree program. Grades received in foreign language courses to establish reading knowledge, as specified by the Graduate Council, are not used.

The Purdue Hymn

*Close by the Wabash, in famed Hoosier land, Stands old Purdue, serene and grand;
Cherished in memory, by all her sons and daughters true;
Fair Alma Mater, All Hail, Purdue,
Fairest in all the land,
Our own Purdue.*

Hail Purdue

*To your call once more we rally,
Alma Mater, hear our praise;
Where the Wabash spreads its valley,
Filled with joy our voices raise.
From the skies in swelling echoes,
Come the cheers that tell the tale,
Of your vict'ries and your heroes,
Hail Purdue! We sing all Hail.*

Chorus

*Hail, Hail to old Purdue!
All Hail to our old gold and black!
Hail, Hail to old Purdue!
Our friendship may she never lack.
Ever grateful, ever true,
Thus we raise our song anew,
Of the days we've spent with you,
All Hail our own Purdue.*

The Purdue University Mace is used at every commencement exercise. It was designed and crafted by David Peterson, a former professor in the Department of Art and Design, and instructor of Jewelry and Metalsmithing at Purdue. The historical significance of the mace is described on page 10.

Welcome to the Edward C. Elliott Hall of Music and Purdue's annual Summer Commencement Exercise.

As a courtesy to those seated around you, we ask that you not take photographs or use videotape equipment during the ceremony. A professional photographer will photograph each graduate receiving his or her diploma. We also ask that you remain in your seat until the conclusion of the exercises.

Thank you.

THE COMMENCEMENT CEREMONY

A Perspective

Purdue University owes a substantial debt to its medieval predecessors for its commencement ceremony and academic attire. The academic heritage which evolved during the Middle Ages provided us with a teaching institution, the university; a method of measuring academic progress, degrees; and a structure for an appropriate ceremony recognizing the student's achievement, commencement. In June 1875, Purdue University held its first commencement outdoors on the Oval, awarding the Bachelor of Science degree to a class of one. In 1903, commencement was moved indoors to the newly-completed Eliza Fowler Hall. The steady growth of the size of the graduating class necessitated moving the exercises to larger and larger facilities: the Memorial Gymnasium, the Armory, the Field House, and in 1940, to the Edward C. Elliott Hall of Music. The 157th commencement at the West Lafayette campus is being held today for graduates who qualified for their degrees as of the end of the recent summer session. The colorful ceremony, enacted each year on campuses throughout the world, is the formal climax and recognition of the graduates' years of study and preparation.

Academic Attire

All participants in the commencement ceremony, except military services faculty, are attired in traditional cap and gown. The basic color for most caps and gowns is black. However, associate degree candidates wear gray caps and gowns. The bachelor's gown has pointed sleeves; the master's gown has oblong sleeves with an arc at the bottom; and the doctor's gown has bell-shaped sleeves. The bachelor's and master's gowns are untrimmed. The doctor's gown is faced down the front with velvet and has three velvet chevrons across the sleeves. The facing and chevrons may be black or distinctive of the field of study. The hoods recognized for each of the degrees vary in size, shape, and length with the larger and more elaborate designating the doctoral level. The shell of the hood matches the black material of the gown. The lining, which is folded out, bears the official colors of the institution which conferred the degree—old gold and black for Purdue. The color of the velvet border on the hood denotes the field of study to which the degree pertains. The hood is not worn by candidates for the baccalaureate degree at Purdue.

Candidates for degrees wear a tassel on the right side of the square Oxford cap, or mortarboard. At Purdue, the color of the tassel identifies the school of the University from which they are to receive their degree. The tassel colors are as follows:

Graduate School—black	Liberal Arts—white
Agriculture—maize	Management—peacock blue
Consumer and Family Sciences—maroon	Nursing—apricot
Education—light blue	Pharmacy—olive green
Engineering—orange	Science—golden yellow
Forestry—russet	Technology—red
Health Sciences—salmon pink	Veterinary Medicine—gray

Undergraduate candidates receiving their degrees with honors wear special honor cords around the neck. Gold and black cords indicate graduation "With Highest Distinction"; solid gold cords indicate graduation "With Distinction."

Procession

The procession of candidates departs from the Armory led by the procession marshals. The group begins the traditional walk across campus while the outdoor carillon plays music associated with Purdue University and the state of Indiana. As the candidates approach the Purdue Mall, they are joined by the members of the platform party and the faculty members academic procession. The combined procession then crosses onto the mall and moves westward, around the water sculpture, and up the steps of the Frederick L. Hovde Hall of Administration. The procession then moves through Hovde Hall and into the lobby of the Edward C. Elliott Hall of Music, where its arrival is announced by a special fanfare.

Leading the procession into the auditorium is the grand marshal carrying the University Mace. He is followed by the president of the University attired in a black-trimmed gold gown symbolic of his office, members of the Board of Trustees in their black gowns trimmed in distinctive old gold, the deans of the schools, and other members of the University administration. Representatives of the faculties of Purdue University enter next, behind the University banner, wearing the colorful hoods of the colleges and universities from which they graduated. The degree candidates in each school then enter behind a heraldic banner designating their school and escorted by a marshal wearing a black gown with old gold chevrons on the sleeves.

Commencement exercises at Purdue reflect the University's pride in the accomplishments of each graduating student. Your assistance in observing the dignity of this occasion is appreciated.

The University requests that members of the audience refrain from taking photographs in the Hall of Music. Cameras are distracting and ineffective due to the special lighting and immense size of the auditorium.

In deference to other guests and to the radio audience, persons with small children are asked to take them out of the auditorium should they begin to create a disturbance.

A HISTORY OF CAPS AND GOWNS

The academic costumes of today have a history which reaches back more than 800 years. The development of the universities in Western Europe during the 12th century was the result of several influences in medieval life. One of these was the Catholic Church and its monasteries which, at that time, were the chief repositories of classical learning. As the Church developed, monastic and cathedral schools were often established at important cathedral centers to train clerics to assist the bishop in the administration of the diocese. Another major influence was the medieval guild system. The members of every trade or profession, having common interests and problems, had the right to organize themselves into a collegium, or guild, and to elect their own magistrates.

Two of the earliest medieval schools evolved at Bologna, where the teachers were called doctors (from the Latin doctorem, a teacher), and at Paris, where they were called masters (from the Latin magister, a teacher). As these schools grew and the number of doctors and masters increased, each group formed a local guild. The word universitas, a frequently used term applied to any collectivity—including that of guilds—soon became associated with these centers of learning.

A student at one of these early universities attended classes and heard lectures, but took examinations only if he decided to become a teacher. The first step in this process was a series of private and public preliminary examinations. After passing them, the candidate would don a special gown and sit with the baccalari, or bachelors. This ceremony was usually followed by a feast with wine provided by the successful candidate. Two or three years of additional study and the successful completion of a final examination were then required before the student became a “master,” or in the Italian or German universities, a “doctor.”

In medieval Europe, all townspeople—men and women—wore long flowing robes or gowns. Cold halls and drafty buildings made caps and floor-length capes with attached hoods a necessity for warmth. The materials and colors of these gowns varied greatly, according to the wealth and rank of the individual. Since the scholars at the early universities were usually clerics as well, they adopted gown styles similar to those of their monastic order, with hoods to protect their heads. Not until the universities gradually began to pass from the control of the Church did these early drab academic costumes begin to take on brighter hues.

Gradually, the academic costumes became distinctive in style for the bachelors, masters, and doctors, the chief distinction appearing in the hood. After a time, this hood became a separate article, worn over the head and hanging far down the wearer’s back. When caps and hats came into fashion in the 15th century, the hoods became merely ornamental, draped over the shoulder and down the back. These early academic hats originated as a symbol of the master’s degree and existed in various forms: some were round, some square, and some had a tuft in the center. The tassel in use today is an elaboration of this early tuft. The flat, square “mortarboard” style comes to us from Oxford. Ballad folklore suggests that it resembles a scholar’s book.

The faculties of American universities seem to have worn distinguishing costumes from the beginning at Harvard in 1636. Styles became quite varied as they were, and still are, in Europe. However, a group of American college and university representatives met in 1895 to establish a uniform system of academic apparel for this country, which led to adoption of the “Intercollegiate Code of Academic Costume” in 1902, and its later revisions in 1932 and 1960.

THE USE OF ACADEMIC EMBLEMS

The Seal

Seals are common to all corporate bodies and have been used since ancient times to authenticate documents. They constituted the official signatures of emperors, bishops, and corporations. University seals evolved from those of church corporations. In Europe, the early faculties and student nations possessed seals; in the United States, all colleges and universities have had seals since Colonial days. The current Purdue Seal was officially adopted in 1969 and retains elements of earlier versions, which evolved beginning in 1890. The dragon-like griffin, a medieval heraldic device, represents strength. The three-part shield represents Purdue's traditional aims: education, research, and service. The seal combines these traditional elements with modern simplicity of design to form one of the most distinctive of university symbols.

The University Mace

The mace has an ancient history as a symbol of authority. Originally giant clubs made of iron and capable of breaking armor, maces were used chiefly by knights. They were also often borne by a royal bodyguard to protect the king in processions. In the course of time, by the 14th century, they assumed more ceremonial functions and lost their warlike appearance, as they began to be decorated with jewels and precious metals. In 1649, the English House of Commons obtained a mace. In 1756, a silver mace was made for the colony of South Carolina; it is still in use in the state capital at Columbia. In the United States House of Representatives, a mace is placed to the right of the speaker. As a symbol of order and authority, the mace is carried before the president and other dignitaries in the platform party in commencement processions. As a reflection of the modern vision of a truly American university, the design of the Purdue Mace embraces sweeping thrusts and counterthrusts to create a vital energy within an otherwise clean, linear aesthetic. The University seal is located in the center of the mace-head; bounding it are two sweeping silver wings, symbolic of Purdue's aspiring motto: "Touching Tomorrow Today."

The Presidential Medallion

Closely allied with maces and seals as symbols of authority are the collars of office worn by many officials, including chancellors and presidents of universities. Collars usually include a medallion inscribed with the seal of the institution and are worn over the academic gown on public occasions, particularly at commencements. Located in the center of Purdue's Presidential Medallion is the three-part "heraldic shield" and griffin, the symbol which has existed throughout Purdue's long history of University seals. The medallion, as well as the mace, was handcrafted from sterling silver, ebony, and gold, using the centuries-old techniques of swedging, forging, hollow-forming, and silver soldering.

Purdue's commencement exercises have been held in many different locations through the years, ranging from a large circus tent on the Oval in the 1880's to their present site in the Edward C. Elliott Hall of Music. Commencement in the early 1930's was held in the Memorial Gymnasium, now the Computer Science building. Limited space for guest seating soon necessitated a move to the larger facilities in the Armory.

DISTINCTION AND HONORS

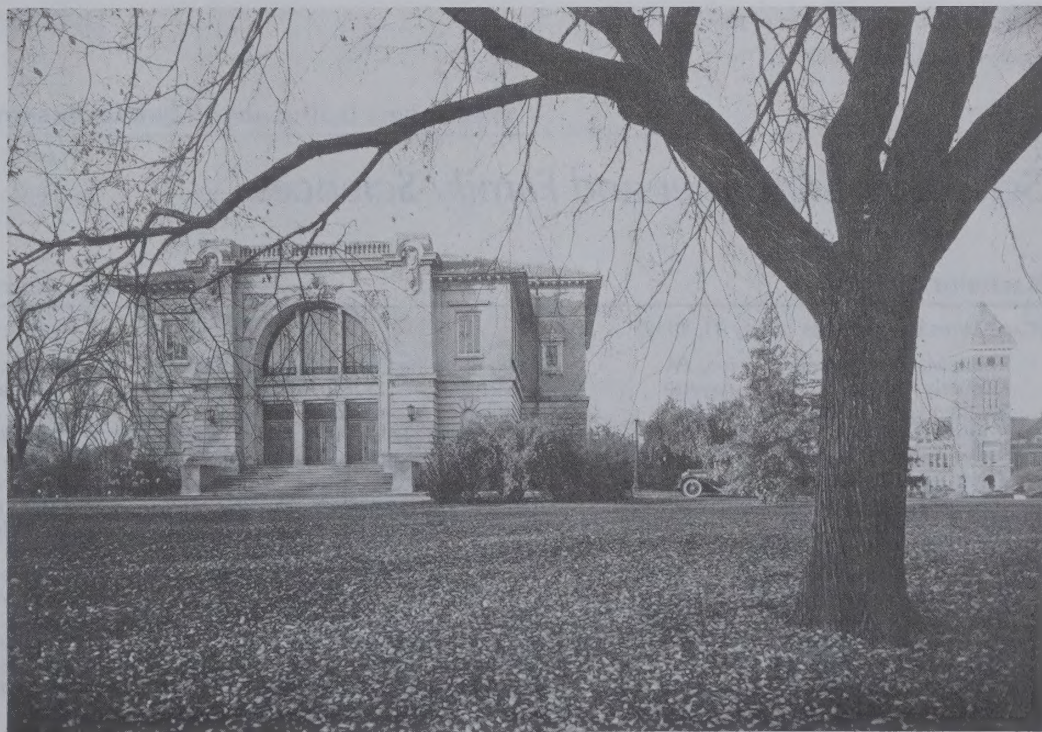

Baccalaureate and Associate Degrees

The outstanding scholastic achievement of selected baccalaureate and associate degree recipients is recognized by awarding the degree "with distinction" or "with highest distinction." Undergraduate candidates with superior academic records who are expected to graduate in August are designated as potential candidates for this special recognition at the beginning of the summer session and are so identified in the commencement program. The final determination of those who actually receive this recognition is made at the conclusion of the semester and is based upon the final graduation index.

A minimum of 65 credit hours included in the graduation index for the baccalaureate degree and 35 credit hours included in the graduation index for the associate degree, with a minimum graduation index of 5.30 are required for a graduate to be eligible for consideration. The upper 10 percent of the May graduates in each of the various schools receive degrees "with distinction." Of the graduates who thus qualify, the upper three-tenths of the baccalaureate graduates and associate graduates receive their degrees "with highest distinction," regardless of the school from which they graduate. The minimum graduation indexes thus determined in May for each school are applied for graduation "with distinction" and "with highest distinction" for the subsequent summer session and fall semester. Recognition is evidenced by placing an appropriate seal on the diploma and entering an appropriate notation on the academic record. Graduates who are potential candidates for degrees "with highest distinction" wear special gold and black honor cords during the commencement ceremony; those who are potential candidates for degrees "with distinction" wear gold honor cords.

Honors programs are offered to selected undergraduate students in various curricula. A student who completes an Honors Program is recognized by a certificate which accompanies the diploma. An appropriate notation is also placed on the academic record.

Eliza Fowler Hall first opened its doors in 1903 for the spring commencement exercises. Made possible through a generous gift of Mrs. Fowler of Lafayette, the building also housed the executive offices of the University for many years. It was torn down in the early 1950's to make way for Stewart Center and its new Eliza Fowler Hall.

The University's semi-centennial was celebrated in 1924. A part of the observance of the event was the erection of this frame archway over State Street just west of Marsteller Street near the campus's main entrance. Note the street car tracks, the trolley car, and in the left background Agriculture Hall, now the Entomology Building. The 1974 date represents the year the University opened for classes. The founding year was 1869.

*Designated as a Distinguished Military Graduate

The designation of "Distinguished Military Graduate" indicates selected individuals who have demonstrated a particularly high level of achievement while earning both an academic degree and a commission in the Armed Forces of the United States. Criteria used in making the selection include demonstrated performance and leadership in course work, as well as in athletics and extracurricular functions. The candidate must also maintain at least a "B" average in all course work while ranking in the upper third of his or her contemporaries. Commissionees so designated receive an appropriately inscribed certificate from their respective services.

Until the late 1950s, military training in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps was required of all physically fit male Purdue students during the freshman and sophomore years, and optional in the junior and senior years. This photo of a weekly inspection of the Corps of Cadets in the Armory was taken in 1929, when the total University enrollment was only 4,200.

A LOOK BACK

The Edward C. Elliott Hall of Music

Edward C. Elliott, president of Purdue University from 1922-1945, envisioned a new state-of-the-art music hall at Purdue as early as 1934. He wanted a facility large enough to accommodate the growing University's commencement exercises, and a building that would symbolize what the University could become.

The hall was designed by Walter Scholer, longtime Lafayette, Indiana, architect and consultant for Purdue University. Scholer supervised the actual construction that began October 24, 1938, and was completed May 2, 1940, at a cost of $1,205,000. It has been estimated that it would take over $50 million to construct a comparable building today. J. Andre Fouilhoux, designer of New York's Radio City Music Hall, served as the consulting architect and the two buildings show striking similarity in design. For example, both use an art deco motif, feature wide staircases ascending to the auditorium, use cantilevered balconies, and contain wide, mammoth main floors. John Johnson, an artist from Frankfort, Indiana, created the impressive sculptures that grace the sides of the building. The three figures represent music, drama, and forensics, the main activities for which the building was constructed. By 1990, when its fiftieth anniversary was celebrated, more than 15 million people had passed through the beautiful, marbled lobbies.

Purdue immortalized Elliott in 1958 by renaming the facility, then known simply as the Purdue Hall of Music, as the Edward C. Elliott Hall of Music. "It is the most exceptional honor that has come to me throughout my life," Elliott said. The building remains one of the largest proscenium auditoriums in the country, and continues to provide an Indiana home for the world's most illustrious performing artists, a showcase for the talents of Purdue students, and a forum for some of the great minds and major figures in all areas of human endeavor. That students, with their families and friends, should leave Purdue by passing through this great hall is a symbolic testament to its enduring significance in the life of the University, the work it does, the education it provides, and the opportunities it offers.

The Edward C. Elliott Hall of Music, as it appeared shortly following its completion in the spring of 1940.

The Beginning

The history of Purdue University goes back a long way, for it was in 1862 that President Abraham Lincoln signed the Morrill Act, which provided for the issuance of land grants for state schools to teach agriculture and "mechanic arts." Through this law, Purdue was later to receive land which could be sold, the proceeds going into the school treasury. In 1869, at a time when arguments were raging as to the location of such a school, John Purdue came forward with an offer of one hundred acres of land and $200,000 for the actual founding of the school. Thus, Purdue University was built in the village of Chauncey, now known as West Lafayette, and which at that time boasted one grocery and three saloons. When Purdue began operations in 1874, it had a faculty of six, a student body of 39, and three buildings on the campus. Today the West Lafayette campus boasts a faculty of more than 2,100, a support staff of more than 5,700, a student body of nearly 36,000, and 135 major buildings.

The Nickname

James H. Smart, Purdue's President from 1883 to 1900, decided to inaugurate football at Purdue as a means of bringing the students together and instilling in them some school spirit. To get the football program started he hired two coaches in 1886. There were no heavy men out for football the next year at Purdue, and the season was a dismal failure. Undaunted, the coaches decided to take steps to remedy the problem. They drafted several policemen, who took one subject in the University until after football season closed. They also got eight boilermakers from the Monon railroad shops to play on the team that year. It was in this year, 1889, that Wabash College was badly beaten by Purdue. The bitter Crawfordsville newspapers paid their respects by calling the players "pumpkin shuckers," "haymakers," "sluggers," "boilermakers," "hay seeds," "blacksmiths," and so forth. Far from riling the students, these remarks pleased them, and they were used continually on the campus until they finally simmered down to the term "boilermakers."

For many years, the main entrance to the University was at the intersection of State and Marsteller Streets. Alumni from the class of 1897 donated the stone gateways. The gateways were removed before construction was begun on Stewart Center in 1956 and have been relocated on the Memorial Mall near John Purdue's grave.

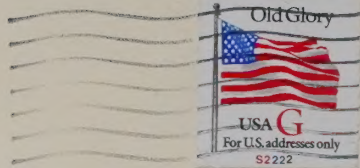

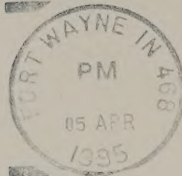

*Ever grateful, ever true,
Thus we raise our song anew,*

*Of the days we've spent with you,
All Hail our own Purdue.*

EVALUATION ANALYSIS

The evaluation is based on a point system, with a score of 150 being considered the maximum.

Outstanding constitutes a distribution of points between 150 and 148.

Excellent constitutes a distribution of points between 147 and 135.

Good constitutes a distribution of points between 134 and 120.

Fair constitutes a distribution of points between 119 and 113.

Unsatisfactory constitutes a distribution of points less than 113.

DEGREES OF COMPETENCE

Outstanding: Job performance which far surpasses the normal requirements of the position.

Excellent: Job performance which surpasses the normal requirements of the position.

Good: Job performance which adequately meets the normal requirements of the position.

Fair: Job performance which barely meets the overall normal requirements of the position, and is considered to be deficient in some areas.

Unsatisfactory: Job performance which does not meet overall normal requirements of the position, and is to be considered deficient in most areas.

Assessments were made based on observations by both the Sponsor Teller and the Training Instructor during the class period.

Please look over the Evaluation and if you have any questions or comments, please feel free to call me for an appointment. I will be happy to meet with you.

Thank You and Good Luck!!

This summer, we'll be adding a few more.

When you put your money at Fort Wayne National Bank, it works hard for you. Because 687 people are working hard, too. They're your friends and your neighbors. We think they're the very best banking team in the city. And every one of them is a good reason to keep your money with us.

But this summer, we're going to introduce some even better reasons. Higher yields on CDs. Special offers on checking. And some new products and services that should make choosing a bank a lot easier.

We think smart people work at Fort Wayne National. This summer, the smart money will, too. Watch the paper for details. Ask anyone on the list above (chances are good you know one of them). Or stop by any office of Fort Wayne National Bank.

This is what I liked about your presentation:

Excellent visuals! Humor added to your presentation!
Great analysis of ~~the~~ similarities of the 2 therapies!
Very relative + meaningful material.

This is how I think it might have been improved:

There were some (a few) spelling errors in your transparencies.
But they were - beautiful transparencies!

The buck stops

Clinton's duty to use the veto

The argument goes like this: The country elected a Republican Congress committed to reining in the government, and so the president should stand aside and let the public work its will.

There's just one problem here — the U.S. Constitution. The Constitution gives the president the responsibility of vetoing legislation he deems injurious to the American people.

This is precisely the checks and balances the Founders wrote into the system, and it falls upon President Clinton to exercise his responsibility under that system.

He should start by vetoing a $16.4 billion rescissions bill the Republicans passed to slash funds out of the current budget.

During his first two years in office, while fellow Democrats controlled Congress, Clinton didn't use his veto power. He didn't exercise it even when he had serious reservations about the legislation or it didn't live up to his hopes.

This is exceptional. Note that John Kennedy, Lyndon Johnson and Jimmy Carter routinely exercised the veto to defeat bills passed by a Democratic Congress.

But this president prefers compromise to confrontation. Besides, in 1992, the American people seemed to have grown weary of the gridlock that had developed between the Democratically controlled Congress and the Republican president. Clinton took the message to heart.

Things have changed. Those who hold power in Congress today seem bent on destroying many of the good things leaders of both parties have accomplished over the past 40 years.

If Clinton allows the Republicans to dismantle the Clean Water Act, as their bill might very well accomplish, it would set environmental progress back a generation.

He should veto the bill. If he allows the Republicans to repeal the assault weapons ban, as they've also proposed, it would very likely lead to a repeal of other gun laws, including the Brady Law, and make America's streets less safe.

He should veto such a proposal.

If Clinton allows the Republicans to give a scaled-back food stamp program to the states in the form of block grants they've proposed, it would put this crucial aid to the poor to the mercy of state and local politics. The nutrition of children and many elderly would be at risk.

He must veto such a move. Clinton could benefit politically by issuing a string of vetoes. Many Americans surely would applaud him for standing up for things he believes in.

But as president he has a higher obligation. It is to oppose legislation that he believes is not in the national interest — with all the tools at his command.

That means the presidential veto.

He should start by vetoing a $16.4 billion rescissions bill the Republicans passed to slash funds out of the current budget.

Reality bites

But don't blame Hollywood, Bob

It's easy for presidential hopeful Sen. Bob Dole to pick on Hollywood. It's a fat target, what with the monster revenues earned by some truly violent movies. And it's a guaranteed sell to the conservative religious groups he's trying to attract to his presidential candidacy.

But if Dole really wants to tone down movie violence, he shouldn't limit his criticism to movies made by the friends of Democrats. He looked hypocritical when he ignored shoot 'em ups made by Republicans Arnold Schwarzenegger and Bruce Willis. His praise of "True Lies," with its truly demeaning portrayal of women, smacks of the very misogyny Dole claims to abhor in rap music.

Instead, Dole singled out films and music produced by Time Warner Inc. Why? Time Warner is a big political contributor to mainly Democratic causes. The Wall Street Journal reported Monday the corporation has contributed $1.13 million to Democratic candidates from 1988-1993.

But perhaps the senator forgot about the $130,000 Time Warner also donated to Republican candidates in that time period — including $21,000 to Dole himself. Not willing to put his money where his mouth is, Dole says he won't return the campaign contributions.

It's easy to blame all of society's ills on what's showing at the local cinema or on television. And it's important to engage in a dialogue about it.

But it's not movies killing kids in the street and debasing the society. It's hopelessness, poverty, racism, indifference on all levels. Dole would serve the country well to focus on these issues. Taking a cheap shot at Hollywood just isn't enough.

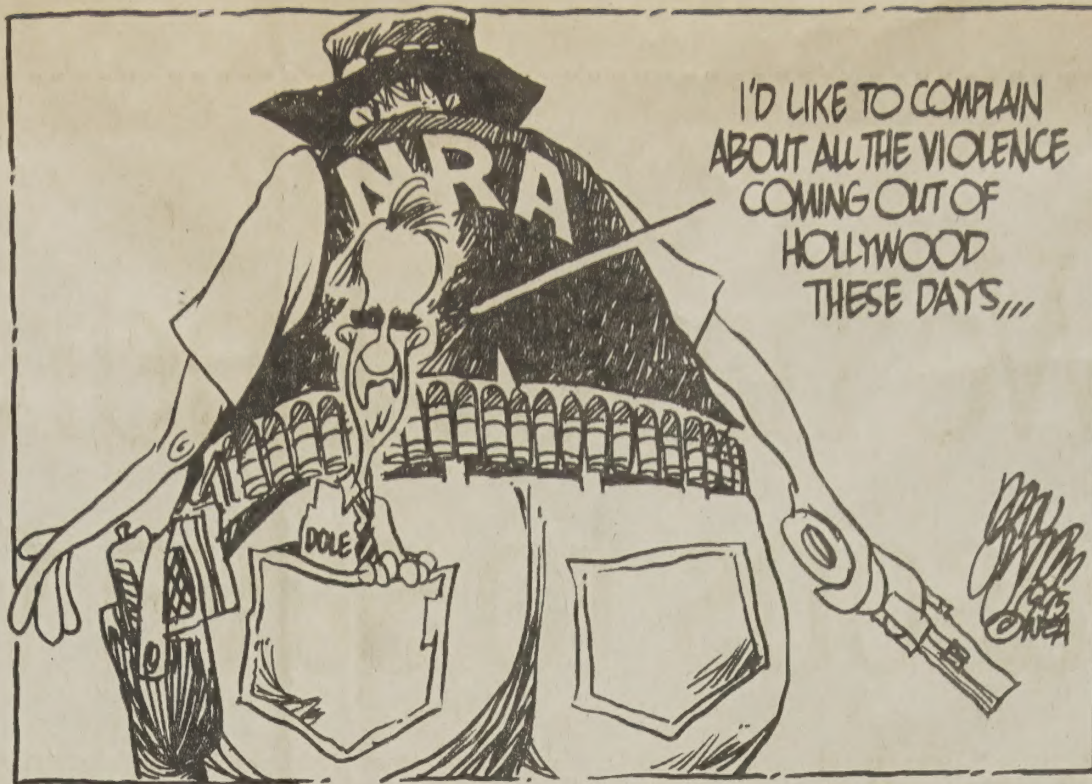

Prayers progress

We're happy to report a couple of encouraging notes from the 1995 edition of the high school graduation prayers debate.

One Allen County high school ceremony we attended went off beautifully and joyously without any officially organized religious activity. As we recall it, the school had had prayers in the recent past. This year's commencement while still uplifting, was more universal without them.

Another county high school ceremony included a religious statement by a class leader. Note that it was the young man speaking his beliefs, not the tax-supported school district conducting a religious service. There's a world of difference.

Schools are avoiding official prayer without squelching the students' free speech. How welcome it will be if this is a graduation trend that becomes tradition.

Christ's sponsors? His many followers

This letter is in response to E. Gene Gorrell's letter, "Real leaders not in it for money," May 15. He referred to Liddy, Limbaugh, Falwell and Robertson getting paid for saying (or not saying) something, to keep money rolling in. Apparently nothing these men do can satisfy Gorrell without criticism.

Interestingly, he said, "From what little studying I've done I never read about Jesus, Mohammed and Gandhi asking their listeners for a single dime, charging tickets to their show. These famous show hosts never earned a cent expressing opinions."

Read between the lines, he did little studying. To Gorrell, Jesus Christ is a mere show host, giving his opinion free of charge. Christ's "opinion" was his ministry warning people to accept him as their personal Savior, of his impending death, resurrection, ascension and his reappearance on Earth. This was the purpose of his appearance on Earth.

Jesus Christ has no sponsors?

We welcome letters

Mail letters to The Journal Gazette, 600 W. Main St., P.O. Box 88, Fort Wayne, IN 46801. Or fax them at (219) 461-8648. Or send them via e-mail at jgletters@plink.geis.com. Letters are subject to editing for length and must include address and phone number.

A true follower of Christ is a sponsor for him. A true follower gives of his or her time, effort and money to further his kingdom. Can a benevolent person, group or organization exist, to meet the many needs prevalent today, without funding?

Mr. Gorrell, I suggest you read the Apostle Paul's missionary journeys and letters to the early churches. You will find missionaries, needy people and churches supported by free-will offerings and gifts.

Do we want beliefs imposed on us?

Get it clear, the Christian Coalition is not asking for, indeed doesn't want, religious education in public schools, which would inspire questioning and thought, offer alternatives and challenges, and expose deficiencies. They want license to impose their own doctrine.

The schools' response to the Supreme Court decision concerning school prayer was not to mention religion at all. An inappropriate response, for one can teach few school subjects adequately without mentioning the influence of many creeds, wars and all. Adding philosophy and comparative cultures and religions as non-electives in public school for the next generation would ensure, perhaps, renewed acceptance of pluralism and a more enriching future. Scripture and belief, however, should never be taught as scientific treatise, historical fact or Gospel; and no religious discipline should be exercised at the expense of choice.

If you long for a theocracy or holy war don't forget the history of the persecution of the Jews and Christians under early Roman occupation, the rule of the Holy Roman Empire in medieval Europe, theocratic witchcraft trials, and more recently, Nazi Germany. Ponder opposing theocracies, the massacres in Bosnia, Irish terrorism, and World Trade Center and Oklahoma City bombings. This brings it home.

What is important? Inner learned values are not taught by separatism, asceticism, absolutes and intolerance, and are no less valid or ethical when they are chosen from a plethora of options without necessitating uniform belief in the supernatural, a deity or a possible afterlife. Who has the right to impose personal morality and expression of faith on others, by fiat or conquest? What sane person would want to?

Both parties go after Bill of Rights

Reading the fund-raising letters of the American Civil Liberties Union and other liberal organizations, you would think that our liberties and rights are in appalling danger solely from the right wing. Especially from the ultraconservative Republicans who have seized control of Congress.

A partial case can be made for that doomsday alarm. In the House, the Republicans have practically destroyed the Fourth Amendment, which prohibits the state from searching your home or business without a warrant. And in the Senate, Orrin Hatch of Utah, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, is determined to finish the job by placing the Fourth Amendment in an unmarked grave.

In both the House and Senate, the Republicans are also engaged in crippling the Great Writ — the writ of habeas corpus — that allows federal courts to review convictions and sentences handed down by state courts when the latter appear to be unconstitutional. The Republicans want to limit those habeas corpus appeals to federal courts to only one — after a prisoner has exhausted his state court remedies.

I have extensive files of people on death row who were finally able to prove their innocence through habeas corpus appeals eight, 10 and 13 years after they had gone through the state courts.

But look at what the Democrats are up to in diminishing the Constitution. The leader of the party, our president, taught constitutional law at the University of Arkansas, but his text must have been a comic book introduction to the Bill of Rights. Mr. Clinton has already introduced a bill that would allow legal aliens — suspected "terrorists" — to be deported through use of informers whom the defendants are not allowed to see, let alone cross-examine. Yet there is a line of Supreme Court cases clearly stating that legal aliens have the same rights of due process as the rest of us.

The president has also proposed extensive added wiretapping powers for the FBI, including listening on any phone a suspect might use. And the FBI wouldn't have to get a warrant for each tap.

Supporting another Clinton wiretapping demand in the Senate — permitting taps for 48 hours without a court order — were many Democrats. But the legislator who helped kill the proposal was Republican Orrin Hatch. He is not usually regarded as the champion of civil liberties, but he said that Clinton had gone too far. His bill could be used to violate the constitutional rights of domestic political organizations — and make Americans fearful of engaging in legitimate dissent.

Revealingly, the president's "emergency" wiretap bill was introduced by the Democratic Sen. Joseph Lieberman of Connecticut. He is almost invariably referred to as a moderate Democrat, but apparently Lieberman does not believe in moderation in defense of civil liberties. If Republican Jesse Helms of North Carolina had introduced the same bill, there would have been an outcry in the press about radical right Republicans embarking on a search and destroy mission against the Constitution.

In criticizing what he calls the slow pace of "anti-terrorism" legislation in Congress — including the rejection of some of his bills — Clinton talks in The Washington Post of "the old politics of diversion and delay" that play "into the hands of those who would blame law enforcement officers who keep the law rather than the criminals

Get facts on suspensions

As teachers for Fort Wayne Community Schools, we have been very disturbed about what we have been reading lately about school suspensions and the "disparity" of them. In essence, we see that the rate of suspensions for African-American children is higher than it is for others of various ethnic backgrounds. We feel these editorials are sending the message that many teachers are discriminatory. Many "concerned citizens" are missing the whole picture: the real issue of behavior. It appears that many have made this a racial issue and not a behavioral one. When a student comes into the classroom and is disruptive and keeps the teacher from teaching and the other students from learning, the teachers do not care what race he or she is. What we are concerned with is the behavior of that student, and we discipline accordingly.

If students would come to school ready to learn because they have been physically and emotionally nurtured, teaching and learning would be so enjoyable. Unfortunately, many students come to school physically and emotionally undernourished. They are not ready to learn, and we must be prepared to deal with these students.

We feel one of the big problems today is that people do not accept responsibility for the consequences of their actions. In certain instances, suspension can and should be a natural consequence of unacceptable behavior, regardless of a child's ethnic background.

It seems that many have solutions for unacceptable behavior, but few have the facts. It has been suggested that one possible solution to suspension is cooperative learning groups. Where have these people been? We have been doing cooperative learning for several years.

In the future, we hope as much effort will be put forth to find and correct the cause of unacceptable behavior resulting in suspension as has been put into the "numbers game" that so many are playing.

N. Ireland shows signs of peace

WASHINGTON — On St. Patrick's Day in 1994 and 1995, President Clinton hosted White House evening receptions for 200 or so friends of Ireland. Both times, this Irish stew included a Dublin contingent led by Eire's Taoiseach, writers and musicians from Kerry and Galway, shamrock-wearing Irish-Americans and a roster of Blarney-talking expatriates.

Both evenings, Clinton, whose mother was a Cassidy, was the model of Gaelic oratory: a soft mix of charm, history and political sharpness. He spoke of advancing the peace process in Northern Ireland and the contributions his administration would be making to end the violence.

To those who heard the two speeches and wondered if Clinton would follow through, the answer — resoundingly positive — came on May 25. The president convened 300 business and political leaders from Northern Ireland, Ireland, the United States, Canada and England for a conference on trade and investment in the six counties of the British-ruled north and six border counties in the Republic.

After nine months of a cease-fire — British troops are going home, IRA and Unionist gunmen are cooling it, former political enemies are shaking hands, not fists — the surest way to a peaceable island is an employed and a trading island. Of all the former and current war zones that Clinton has involved himself in — Bosnia, Somalia, Haiti, Sudan, the Middle East — Northern Ireland is both the least fractious and the most amenable to economic recovery.

Clinton has been the only U.S. president to give full effort to creating the conditions for peace in Northern Ireland. He told his May 25 audience that the opportunities for corporate investment there "are excellent. The workforce is well-educated and well-motivated. The productivity levels are high. The unit labor costs are low. Labor relations are good. The infrastructure, the communications, the access to the European market are fine."

More than 40 U.S. firms currently operate in Northern Ireland, including Ford, 3M and United Technologies. Nine thousand jobs are involved, which is 9 percent of the manufacturing workforce. After 27 years of street bombings and gunplay, Northern Ireland has had few tourists, despite the six counties having some of the world's most scenic landscapes and seacoasts.

Tourism is only 1.5 percent of Northern Ireland's current economy. Nothing would get more visitors flocking to the northern 12 counties faster than a string of new championship golf courses, one of which in time could be the site of the British Open.

Tourism jobs are fine and an economic benefit, but the experience in the Republic — where tourism is strong and U.S. flights on Aer Lingus are packed every summer — suggests something more than a seasonal service industry is needed. The depressing torment of Ireland for decades has been the massive departures of its young for the United States, England and Germany — especially the educated young with degrees from Trinity, University College in Dublin and St. Patrick's in Maynooth.

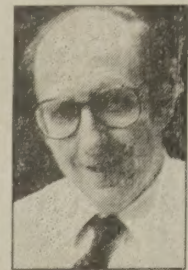

In the 1980s, Ireland's young poured into the United States as house painters, nannies and bartenders: Temporary workers, for sure, but adept in the way of securing permanent visas. These are the people — the 18 to 30 age group — who need and want a reason to stay rooted in their homeland.

Chances increase that they will stay in Ireland if the employment base is broad and non-discriminatory. The Clinton administration is committed to prohibiting anti-Catholic hiring bias by U.S. companies in the north.

President Clinton had the luck of the Irish — or part Irish, which he is — when former Sen. George Mitchell of Maine signed on as a special adviser on economic issues in Ireland. Mitchell, whose father was an orphaned son of Irish immigrants, was asked at a White House briefing on May 23 about the riskiness of investment in Northern Ireland as long as the threat of violence remained. Clearly, he replied: If violence were the issue, few foreign companies would be doing business in the United States.

Odds on, peace will return to the cities of Northern Ireland much sooner than to the cities of America. On several recent trips to Belfast, Mitchell spent time with groups representing every faction imaginable. A consensus emerged from the hate-weary citizens: U.S. investment means a market for Americans and a future for the Irish.

Dear Dr. Greene:

I am very interested in obtaining a full-time teaching position with the Fort Wayne Community School Alternative Education program. Please find my resume for your review.

You will find me to be an optimist, a person who thrives on challenges, leads by example, and readily adapt to varied situations. I set clear, high, yet attainable goals for both myself and my students. My students will be expected to work toward their highest potential, to respect themselves and others, and to develop self-motivation.

Throughout my college years and later, at Crossroad Children's Home and the Southwest Northwest Joint Alternative School, I was able to work with a wide variety of elementary middle-school, and high-school aged children with differing emotional, social, and learning challenges. This broadened my experience considerably, and I feel confident in working with children from any background. My goal has always been to create a positive, healthy, and productive classroom environment to enable each child to work to his or her ability.

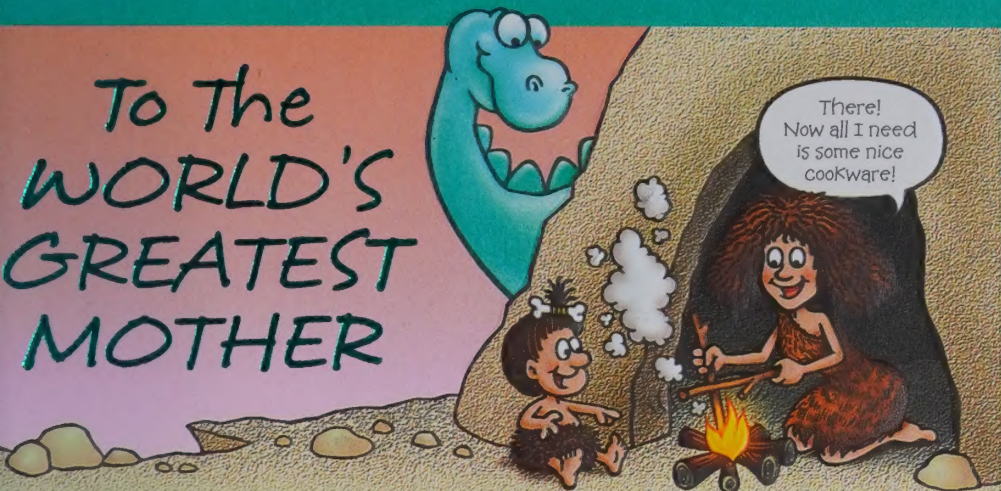

I sincerely believe you will not find a more devoted, enthusiastic and hard working teacher and would like the opportunity to discuss my abilities in more depth. A personal interview can be arranged at your convenience.

Sincerely,
